1st Light Energy Schedules Free Solar Seminar in Edison April 27 at Swagath Gourmet Restaurant

Seminars to Now Become Monthly Events

South Plainfield, NJ (April 14, 2011) –1st Light Energy will bring Earth Day to life for New Jersey residents when it holds another free solar seminar on Wednesday, April 27 at 7 p.m. at the Swagath Gourmet Restaurant in Edison. Attendees will learn how solar energy can impact their lives and household budgets by dramatically reducing their electric bill. This event begins a series of free solar seminars that will be hosted by 1st Light Energy at Swagath Gourmet Restaurant. The world celebrates Earth Day on April 22.

“Our seminars at Swagath Restaurant in March were an overwhelming success,” said Michael Allen, National Sales Manager for 1st Light Energy. “These free seminars give consumers the chance to not only learn about solar power but to ask all of the questions they may have about the latest lease options which allows them to bring solar energy into their homes for no money down.”

Attendees to the solar seminar will enjoy great traditional food, FREE, while they learn how easy it can be to dramatically reduce their electric bill by going solar with 1st Light Energy.
